Tags for older vehicles to cost more in September

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Any car purchased after September 1993 will be valued according to a new schedule approved by the State Tax Commission.

That new schedule moves the lowest appreciation of $100 from the current 10 years to 15 years.

In addition, a luxury car schedule will influence the appreciation amount.

"They are hoping this will make things more fair and equitable," Hancock County Tax Assessor Edward Murtagh explained.

According to Murtagh the "book" will come out in July and the first assessments under the new schedule will begin in September.

"If you purchase a car by August, you will be under the old assessment schedule," he stated.

Murtagh said the luxury car schedule is new and a point of contention, for it permits one to pay lower taxes on a car worth far more than the assessed value.

The way the 15-year depreciation schedule works, according to the tax assessor's understanding is:

The first year one is assessed on 33.35 percent of the cost of the car.

The second year, the assessed value drops, but the third year the value stays the same as the second, showing no depreciation between the two years.

From then on every year the depreciation is gradual.

State Rep. J.P. Compretta reported, "Thursday a resolution was introduced for the revival of a bill to freeze car tag

Shoreline Park resident seeks help in preparing for arrival of purple martins

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

It once was a lovely apartment complex, housing 58 families each spring, but time has taken its toll and today it looks pale among the other newly painted and constructed purple martin houses of landlord Ed Parsons.

Parsons is in need of assistance in lowering the largest and most deteriorated of the five purple martin houses situated upon his waterfront property.

He said, six or seven years ago Coast Electric Company set a truck and lift basket to help place the house upon a 15-foot pole.

Parsons now wishes to take the house off the pole to repair and re-paint it to its former glory.

"The martins will start coming in about April or May. All the nitches will be full and they will all have little ones," he stated.

"You should hear all the yacking," Parsons added. "They come back claiming their places from last year. It's really comical."

Parsons also has two bluebird houses in a wooded area of his property, near a blackberry vine.

He said, he enjoys the sight of the bluebirds that occasionally set up house in the single habitations. "Man does not always remember, beauty is a joy forever."

The martins are his favorite and best friends, for they help to keep the

Favre, Lee jerseys retired at Hancock

BY LIZ HAAS

The Hancock County School Board approved Tuesday to retire the jerseys of Brett Favre and Joy Nell Lee, and to induct them into the 'Wall of Fame' at the high school.

Favre quarterbacks for the Green Bay Packers. Lee coaches basketball for the Misses State Tigers in Tennessee.

The jerseys, along with a plaque, will be displayed in the trophy case in the Commons at the high school.

The board approved the criteria for consideration and a selection committee for deciding which former students should be honored on the Wall of Fame for athletic achievement.

The criteria are that the nominee be a graduate of the Hancock County School District with outstanding achievement during high school and college, an outstanding or professional career in athletics, or contribution to athletics which has brought honor and recognition to the district.

The selection committee will be comprised of the superintendent of education, a board member, the high school principal, the athletic director, the coach of the particular sport and two local parents.

In addition the board approved:

Caller says officials suspect wrong man in bomb threat

BY LIZ HAAS

An anonymous caller to the Pass Christian Police Department Thursday advised that they had the wrong suspect in the Tuesday bomb threat to the Bay bridge, according to Police Chief John Dubuisson.

On Tuesday morning the Hancock County Civil Defense Office received an anonymous phone call from a male, evidently trying to disguise his voice, saying he planted a bomb under the Bay bridge, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil reported Tuesday.

"The caller told the dispatcher in another call that he was HIV positive, losing his wife and house and just did not care anymore," said McNeil.

The bridge was closed Tuesday afternoon for approximately two hours while agents searched the bridge for a dynamite bomb alleged to be located there.

A BMR officer sighted a package enclosed in a zip-lock bag under the bridge, but a bad rain storm apparently washed it away before United States Customs officials and a bomb disposal personnel from Gulfport were able to search the location.

The searched turned up nothing and the bridge was reopened at 3 p.m.

J.B. Rideout, resident in charge for the Alcohol Tobacco and Firearms Bureau (ATF), reported a lead on a suspect earlier in the week.

He said, "We have developed a lead and believe we have a suspect in our investigation."

Pass policemen and Mississippi Highway Patrol officers made a routine check of the bridge Thursday after they received the anonymous phone call as a safeguard and found nothing.

"The ATF and Harrison County Sheriff's Office is still investigating the case," said Dubuisson.

Rideout said the case is still under investigation, and he could not comment further.

Harrison County Sheriff Joe Price was unavailable for comment.

Clarification

A story in Thursday's edition of The Sea Coast Echo entitled "Broadwater receives first Bay St. Louis taxi license," reported three other companies to have applied to the City of Bay St. Louis for vehicle for hire licensing.

Two of these are presently operating under temporary permits issued by the city.

Along with Taxi Cabs Inc., the companies legally operating in Bay St. Louis are Mertie's Way to Go Cab Service and Michael Flynn's Bay Limousine Service, according to Mayor Edward Favre.

The third company applying for a license with the city has not received a temporary permit.

assessments at the current rates.

"It has drawn a lot of support," he added concerning the new action.

Compretta said, the bill which would have imposed an additional three percent sales tax on new cars, was "on life support," following its defeat last week.

Compretta commented, the state surplus of $130 million would not be a consideration for assistance in car tag reductions, for it is a non-recurring financing source.

"You could use the money to help this year, but what about next year?" he asked.

"Besides, the governor has asked that the legislature take $49 million of it to repair bridges throughout the state.

"The counties should have been doing this all along, but considering there have been seven deaths due to bridge collapses since October, it is quite a serious issue.

"Right now we must have request for surplus expenditures totaling $500 million."

March designated clean-up month

The month of March has been designated clean-up month by the Beautification Committee of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. All citizens of the county are asked to participate in this activity. The committee has adopted as its motto, "Litter Free in '93."

To register your group in this effort, call Alice Holmes at 467-3710 for the southern part of the county or Bob Valigosky at 255-7198 for the northern area.

The public is also invited to attend a rally on Saturday, March 13, from 8 a.m. to noon at the hospital walking track. There one may pick up free trash bags, watch the county's Girl Scouts decorate litter barrels and have Gulf Coast Recycling explain the curbside recycling that will start on April 1 in Bay St. Louis.

All registered groups will receive a certificate of appreciation.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The month of March has been designated as cleanup month in Hancock County by the Chamber's Beautification Committee.

Along these lines, an area-wide cleanup is scheduled for Saturday, March 13, 8 a.m. until noon.

I realize this is also the annual St. Patrick's Day parade in Waveland, but there is enough time to do a cleanup before the parade which is in the afternoon.

The cleanup will get off with a 'rally' beginning 8 a.m. at the Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center.

The cleanup is in connection with Hancock County's Litter Free '93" campaign.

Groups are asked to select an area to clean that day. As most of you know, the annual Gulf Coast Spring Pilgrimage will begin the following week.

The Bay-Waveland, Diamondhead, Hancock County Welcome Center and NASA Pilgrimages bring many visitors to our area.

We need to have our entire community Litter Free for this Pilgrimage.

Volunteers interested in helping in the southern part of the county can call Alice Holmes, 467-3710, or in the northern area, Bob Valigosky at 255-7198.

Free trash bags can be picked up from 8 a.m. until noon at the Walking Track on cleanup day.

Girl Scouts will also have a litter barrel decorating contest at the track.

I will be out helping during the cleanup and I am hoping to see you, too.

As most of you know, Bay St. Louis will enter a recycling program with Gulf Coast Recycling and Waste Management beginning April 1.

Representatives from Gulf Coast Recycling will be available at the track to explain curbside recycling.

In order for Bay St. Louis to be successful with curbside recycling, cooperation will be needed from all residents.

A big celebration is being planned on March 31 for the start of Amtrak service to Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock County Historical Society is seeking some photos from rail travelers in years gone by in Hancock County.

Photos, such as those of people boarding trains at the Bay St. Louis Depot, with identification, from the beginning in 1870 thru the discontinuance of rail service are sought.

I went over some of the photos the Historical Society has, and I did not see one of the old Bay St. Louis Coal-shut. One of those is needed, too.

Also the society is in need of photos of the small depots at Nicholson and Coleman avenues. I remember the one at Nicholson very well, since I was raised only two blocks away.

The depots at Nicholson and Coleman were very small but served the public well.

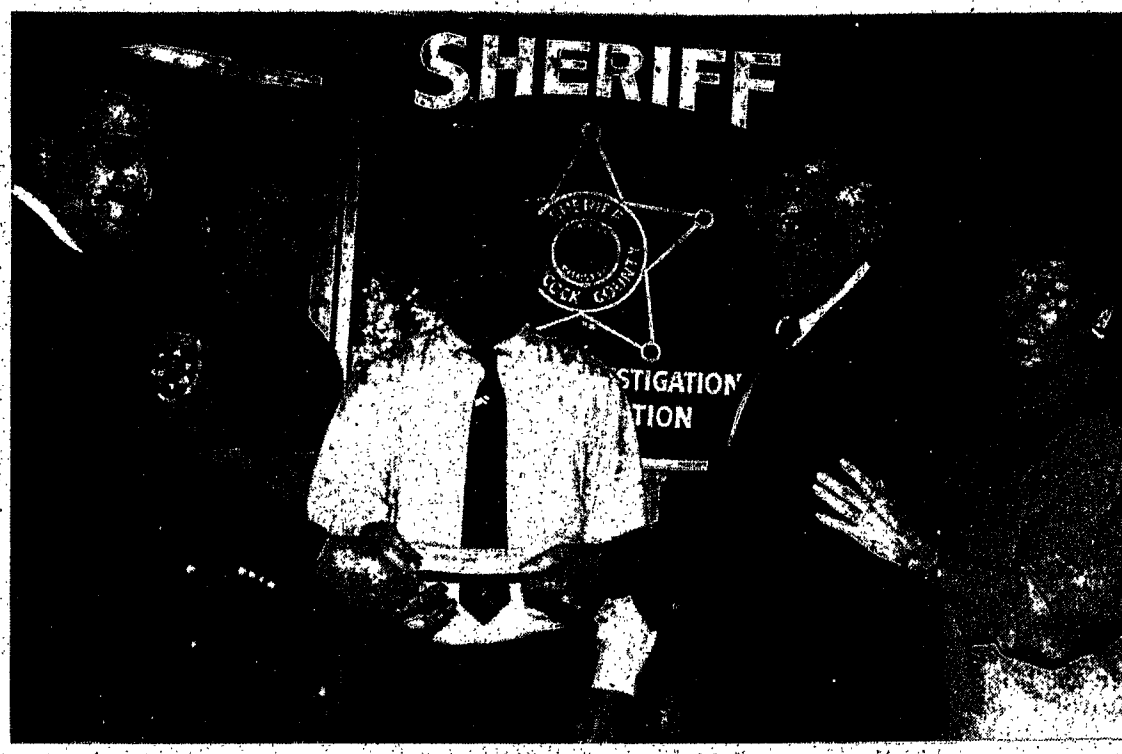

Photos will be returned. For further information, call the Hancock County Historical Society at 467-4090.

Sheriff's office gets drug money

Bill Massengale of the U.S. Customs Department in Gulfport presented a check for $11,720 to Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson Tuesday. The donation was from violator funds seized over the last year for drug-related incidents and was presented to the Sheriff's Office because it was a major participant in the investigations. The money will be used for the Hancock County Metropolitan Task Force, comprised of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the Sheriff's Office, who work together on drug enforcement in the county. Pictured are Waveland Police Chief James Varnell, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Frank McNeil, Sheriff Peterson, Massengale and Waveland Mayor Stella Filot. (Echo staff photo by Liz Haas)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Animal shelter is asset to Waveland

Dear Editor,

On Friday, Feb. 19, our small black and white "tramp" dog disappeared, and both my wife and I were quite upset. We began to look for assistance in all areas in an attempt to seek the return of our dog.

I had contacted Mayor Filot seeking her assistance in helping me to check out the Waveland Animal Shelter in our search for "the pride of our household," and she was most gracious in her assistance to us.

Not only were the personnel of the animal shelter most helpful, courteous and kind, but I observed that they had a genuine fondness for their "animal guests."

The shelter was immaculate; the dogs seemed to be as happy as they could be under the circumstances. The dogs were obviously well taken care of, and the place was completely odorless.

I had occasion to visit this shelter some three years ago and was happy to see that the shelter was greatly improved.

At the time of my visit to the shelter, some people brought in a dog that had been shot, and the personnel of the shelter responded to this tragedy as would the people in the emergency ward at any human hospital.

They were not only very attentive, but extremely kind. They certainly agreed with me when I commented upon the fact that I had hoped the perpetrator of this dastardly act toward this helpless animal could be caught as I feel strongly about people who would intentionally injure or attempt to injure any animal when such animal is not in the act of attempting to attack the person.

Again, I want to commend the personnel of the Waveland Animal Shelter facility and also Mayor Filot, who I understand assisted greatly in improving the animal shelter.

Sincerely,
Walter J. Phillips

Is Orlando conference a pleasure trip?

To the Editor:

It came to my attention in The Sea Coast Echo, dated Feb. 21, that Mayor Stella Filot, Police Chief James Varnell, Fire Chief David Garcia, and Public Works Director Mike Barnes and Alderman Bob Hubbard, will attend the National Hurricane Conference in Orlando, Fla. April 13-16.

My concern is, what about our streets and trash that will land in our streets. What about our street superintendent, Mr. Rick Woodall, and our trash superintendent? Are they not important enough to attend?

I guess it's not important that the citizens of Waveland are able to get to and from their homes.

What is the point in the mayor attending such an ordeal, when she can't handle one person on the alderman's board? I hope a disaster never happens when she's in office. She will probably pack up and move back to New Orleans.

Bereal. Is this just a pleasure trip for all the above on the expense of the taxpayers?

Volunteers needed by Family Child Center

Dear Editor:

The South Mississippi Family Child Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse opened in October 1988. Its primary purpose is to help prevent child abuse with the use of professionally trained and supervised volunteers working with families "at risk" as well as with families where abuse has occurred.

The center is one of a network of 60 Exchange Club Child Abuse Prevention Centers in over 30 states and one in Puerto Rico coordinated by the National Exchange Club Foundation for the Prevention of Child Abuse. Through the efforts of this foundation, more than 6,000 children have been served.

The use of volunteers is necessary due to the rising numbers of reported cases of abuse and neglect. When trained and supervised, they become effective in the preventative process.

The Family Child Center provides services to the residents of the 12 counties making up South Mississippi. We are constantly recruiting volunteers who are interested in helping to prevent child abuse in our communities. Those interested in volunteering, or needing information, may call 868-8686 or come by the main office at 4803 Harrison Circle, Gulfport.

Please remember that our children are our greatest asset, and that together we can strive to prevent them from the tragedy of child abuse.

Sincerely yours,
Bridget Logan

Spousal rape, cancer info bills passed last week

The Senate week started by clearing the Senate calendar of all appropriations and revenue bills. On Wednesday debate and floor action began on nearly 200 general bills and constitutional amendments which originated in the House of Representatives. The Senate is working toward the March 11 deadline for acting on the bills already approved by the House.

Both the Senate and the House have acted upon two bills which are now awaiting approval from the Governor. Senate Bill 2296 authorizes the Commissioner of Insurance to hire inspectors of factory-build homes beginning July 1, 1993. Senate Bill 2365 requires impact reports for mandated health coverage.

House bills receiving approval in the Senate this week include:

* House Bill 701 clarifies the offense of spousal rape. The act provides that a person may be prosecuted for sexual battery of such person's spouse whether living together or apart. The legal spouse may be found guilty of sexual battery if the legal spouse engaged in forcible sexual penetration without the consent of the alleged victim.

* House Bill 609 provides that license decals and license tags should be sold separately. In case of the loss or theft of a license tag or decal, the owner should report to the law officials file a report with the tax collector of his resident county. The fee for a substitute decal will be $2.50 and a substitute license tag and decal will cost $10.

* House Bill 194 directs the Department of Health to establish and maintain a central cancer registry in which information on cancer patients, their treatment and results are compiled for use of the medical profession.

Doctors or hospitals will furnish the name, age, sex, address, physician, diagnosis, date of diagnosis, stage of disease, type of treatment, response to treatment and periodic follow-up reports to the cancer registry. Information shall only be used to provide statistical reports, and names will not be divulged in regard to any case.

* House Bill 507 provides penalties for cheating at gambling. Gambling games do not include bingo or raffles. Cheating means altering the rules of a game or the amount or frequency of payment in a game. Both fines and imprisonment are penalties for this crime.

* House Bill 117 terminates parental rights on conviction of a sex crime beginning July 1, 1993.

* House Bill 1383 provides for the suspension of a Mississippi driver's license and driving privileges of persons who are convicted of drug offenses in another jurisdiction.

The Senate will continue to discuss and vote on the bills remaining on the calendar. The House of Representatives is now considering bills referred to them by the Senate. All general bills must be acted on and motions disposed of by Saturday, March 13.

For comments or information, contact Senator Johnson at P. O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215 or by calling 359-3770. (Submitted by Mississippi State Senator Bill Johnson)

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Two months down, one to go

With less than a month left before the Legislature brings the 1993 session to a scheduled close, there remains a full list of issues and initiatives with which our elected officials must deal.

Topping the list is specifically how to handle the current $130 million budget surplus. Still alive are bills to pay teacher health insurance as well as to increase teacher salaries. The pay raise plan has cleared both houses, but in different versions. Health insurance will likely be dealt with in a conference committee.

Another proposed use for the budget surplus is aimed at a state employee pay raise. The House and Senate have passed their own plans, with differences in the amount of a pay raise (if granted) still to be ironed out.

Governor Kirk Fordice is calling for a part of the surplus to be spent for one-time bridge repair in the state, with pay increases for teachers and other public employees at a lower level. Any remaining surplus, under Fordice's plan, would go into a rainy day fund.

While some good has come out of this session, most notably the much-needed tort reform, several priority issues have suffered early deaths. Budget reform, appointment of local school superintendents, privatization of government services, removal of chancery and circuit clerks from the fee system, and authorization for alternate forms of county government all died from the disease of apathy, resistance to change and misinformation.

When all is said and done, the 1993 session will probably be considered fairly successful. Some good legislation has come out of it, and the people in Mississippi will be the beneficiaries of these limited improvements. Other good legislation will have to wait until future years, as is so often the case.

In the meantime, let's hope further education on the issue will lead to the passage of meaningful and substantial legislation cast aside during the 1993 session.

City of Waveland Saints (7-8-year-olds), the Alcan Raiders (9-10-year-olds), the American Legion Cowboys (11-12-year-olds) and the Allstate Giants (11-12-year-olds). All four teams won their All-Star games, and the American Legion Cowboys won the conference championship.

All football players and cheerleaders who finished the season received awards.

Paternostro has been strength coach for the Saints for 12 years. Prior to that he was in the fitness club business for 20 years. He is a graduate of West Jefferson High School and San Diego State College.

Paternostro is a former classmate of Waveland resident Fred Peterman, who is coach of the American Legion Cowboys. "We played football together at West Jefferson," said Peterman, "where we both dated and married our high school sweethearts. And we're both still married (to Mercedes and Pearl) 35 years later."

As a favor to Peterman, Paternostro arranged for the American Legion team to spend a day with the Saints the Saturday before the Miami game.

During the day, the 11-12-year-olds met the coaches and players and collected autographs.

Hancock County Humane Society

The Humane Society rallied forces around a human being this past week, as member Madison McKinney fell and fractured her hip. She is recovering beautifully.

Election of officers for 1993 was held. Thyla Rogers was elected president; Teresa Perniceiro, manager of the flea market, was elected vice-president; Madison McKinney will be secretary, and Jody Malley will be treasurer. Dorothea Martin, Sue Lamn and Coco Cabot were named members of the board.

Sue Lamn has taken the position of cruelty investigator, and Barbara Fitch will handle membership.

The humane society was founded by Lollie Backlund in March of 1973, and Backlund and Rosemary Malandra attended the 20th anniversary meeting to celebrate the occasion with cake and coffee.

Meetings are conducted the third Sunday of the month at 3 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce building on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The February meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club was called to order by president Mrs. Don Lowe, followed by the devotion and a Valentine story by Mrs. Lelyn Nybo.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. John Holmes, first vice president, who introduced Mrs. Carl Long of Tupelo, air quality chairman for the state of Mississippi.

Long talked on pollution in the home and house plants that can be used to help clean the air. Did you know that three plants in 10-inch pots can clear 100 sq. ft. of space?

Lilies, Ivy, Spider plants, Pothos, Aloe Vera, Corn plant and Dieffenbachia are just a few of the plants that can be grown indoors. Literature was given to members on air pollution. Holmes potted spider plants for each member.

Mrs. George Baud announced the Arbor Day planting of a Magnolia tree at Bay St. Louis Residential Care Center Feb. 12.

Mrs. John Newkirk, garden therapy chairman, reported plants were potted for residents of the Residential Care Center, which will be entered in the garden club's Spring Flower Show as a sponsored group.

Holmes reported on clean-up day, Saturday, March 13. Registration table will be set up at the Fitness Trail from 8 a.m. until noon.

Mrs. Klaus Kueck announced the Garden of the Month award for Bay St. Louis was given to Mrs. Alice Schallace, 230 Melody Lane.

Mrs. Natalie Lassere awarded Garden of the Month for Waveland to Mr. and Mrs. David Campion at 233 Farrar Street.

Commercial Beautification award went to Countryside Antiques, 151 Hwy. 90 in Waveland.

Nybo talked on the Umbrella Plant (Cyperus) and the Distelfink (thistle finch or goldfinch), who are invading our feeders now.

Lowe read a letter of thanks from the Foster Care Children's program for Christmas gifts from garden club members.

Mrs. S. P. Cucullu reported 27 members and one guest in attendance.

Lowe reminded members of the Spring Pilgrimage March 23 and said members are needed as hostesses in the homes.

Members were also reminded to donate food for the food pantry. Mrs. Rene J. Augrain introduced her hostesses, Mrs. Joseph S. Crowley, Mrs. Lelyn Nybo, Mrs. N. L. Snider, Mrs. Fred L. Logan and Mrs. Jack Mohr. Mrs. N. L. Snider designed a lovely Valentine centerpiece for the tea table.

Hancock Lawmen's Association plans yearly events for 1993

The Hancock County Lawmen's Association is planning their Sixth Annual Memorial Services at 10 a.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse on May 15.

This is an effort to make the public aware of the dangers that a law enforcement officer faces on a daily basis.

At 6 p.m. on May 15, there will be the annual fundraiser, a 5,000 drawdown with music provided by "The Night Shift." Tickets are $50 and include the drawdown, dinner and dancing.

On June 20, the Lawmen's Association in conjunction with the Area Community Services of d'Iberville A.C.S. will be selling ads to the community to compile an information booklet of all the area supporters of the Hancock County Lawmen's Association.

It is made up of local law enforcement officers from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Hancock County, Pass Christian, Gulfport, the Bureau of Marine Resources, Mississippi Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Mississippi Highway Patrol and others.

There will be a softball game on June 20 at Comage Park on Booker Street in Bay St. Louis. There will be a drawing for prizes, games and food. The Hancock County Crime Buster will play WXXX Country Music Station from Biloxi.

Meetings for the Hancock County Lawmen's Association are held on the third Monday of each month at the American Legion Club House on Green Meadow Road at 7 p.m.

For information concerning the organization, call 255-6221 or call Brenda or Albert at 466-2887.

Diamondhead Garden Club

The Diamondhead Garden Club met at the Community Center Feb. 17 and rescheduled their annual Pilgrimage.

The 50 bluebird houses the garden club has been placing on the fairways of the golf course under the direction of Jean Eakin are now in place, and members are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the bluebirds. The members will be keeping records of the nesting pairs and the number of young raised.

Henry Kibler was voted in as an honorary member of the garden club in recognition of his many services to the organization.

Rose Marie Smith of Coast Liners showed tapes and talked about the Cherry Blossom Festival in Macon, Ga., and the Christmas celebration in Opryland, Tenn., with a spectacular display of over 20,000 poinsettias.

Riverview FCE Club

The monthly meeting of the Riverview FCE Club was at Kay Buccola's home with Dolores Ouder co-hostess.

Jean Barrett, president, called the meeting to order. She introduced new member Betty Candella. Guest Carol Vegas was introduced and gave an informative talk on "Litter Free by '93."

Committee reports were given. The members were reminded of the upcoming yard sale April 24 for the club, to keep collecting old eyeglasses, greeting cards and magazines.

Collection for the food pantry was taken. Dolores Ouder made a yarn cat, which was raffled for the club, and the bluebird house was raffled for the association.

Barrett said she was proud to announce that the club had won the Membership Award plaque for the most new members last year, the Salvation Army Certificate for dressing dolls and the Most Members Present at the luncheon.

Six members received Literacy Achievement awards. Dot Hamann won for her secretary book. Dolores Bullitt was named outstanding club member.

Tire maintenance is simple, inexpensive

One of the most neglected parts of an automobile—the tires—are actually among the easiest and most economical to maintain.

In fact, just a few minutes of attention each month will help ensure longer tire life and performance.

The key, experts agree, is to prevent problems before they occur. This is particularly true in the spring, when warmer weather entices people to embark on vacations or weekend getaways.

Proper tire maintenance also promotes traction, smoothness and a quieter ride.

Few of the maintenance procedures, such as inflation checks and visual inspections, can be done by the owner at minimal cost.

Inflation pressure can be checked at service stations, usually for no charge. It is recommended that a tire pressure gauge be purchased (for approximately $8), as service station equipment can be inaccurate or inconsistent. Visual inspections of the tires can be conducted for free at home.

Three other elements of tire maintenance—rotation, alignment and balancing—are generally performed by a mechanic or tire dealer as part of a vehicle's regular servicing.

Inflation pressure is the most important aspect of tire maintenance. Improperly inflated tires—whether overinflated or underinflated—result in irregular treadwear and poor gas mileage.

Experts recommend checking air pressure at least once a month with an accurate gauge when the tires are cold.

Recommended air pressures usually can be found in owners' manuals, although it's best to consult with the tire dealer or manufacturer if the vehicle's original tires have been replaced.

Improperly inflated tires will sometimes "squeal" around corners at normal speeds, or feel mushy during turns.

A tire is considered seriously underinflated or overinflated if it is four or more psi—pounds per square inch—off the recommended level.

Generally, tires lose about one psi each month. A spring-time tip: warmer temperatures will cause a rise in pressure of about one psi for every 10 degrees.

Visual inspections are important because they reveal irregular treadwear (one side may be more worn than the other), punctures or other outside damage, the amount of tread remaining on a tire, or even a pebble or stone lodged in the tread.

A simple test using a penny can help determine if a tire's tread is below the safe—or legal—limit. If Lincoln's head is fully visible after the penny has been placed in the tread, then the tire needs replacing.

A more conventional method is to check the wear bar indicators. These can be located by using the arrows on the sidewall as a guide. If the tread is the same height as the wear bar, the tire should be replaced.

Tires should be rotated every 7,000-10,000 miles, with city driving requiring the most frequent attention. Tire rotation extends a tire's life by balancing out the wear variances.

Treadwear can be more pronounced at wheel positions that carry more of the vehicle's weight.

Proper wheel alignment also ensures even treadwear, and may prevent suspension damage that could occur if neglected.

When a car is out of alignment—often caused by driving over potholes and on rough roads—it slightly alters the position of the tires, causing one part of the tire to wear more quickly than the other areas.

Uneven wear can also occur if the wheel and tires are out of balance. The latter is detected by a vibrating steering wheel, which usually becomes more pronounced at highway speeds.

Sounds can pinpoint trouble spot

Unusual noises can be indicators of problems with your automobile. Understanding their cause can help you and your mechanic pinpoint a trouble spot before it becomes serious.

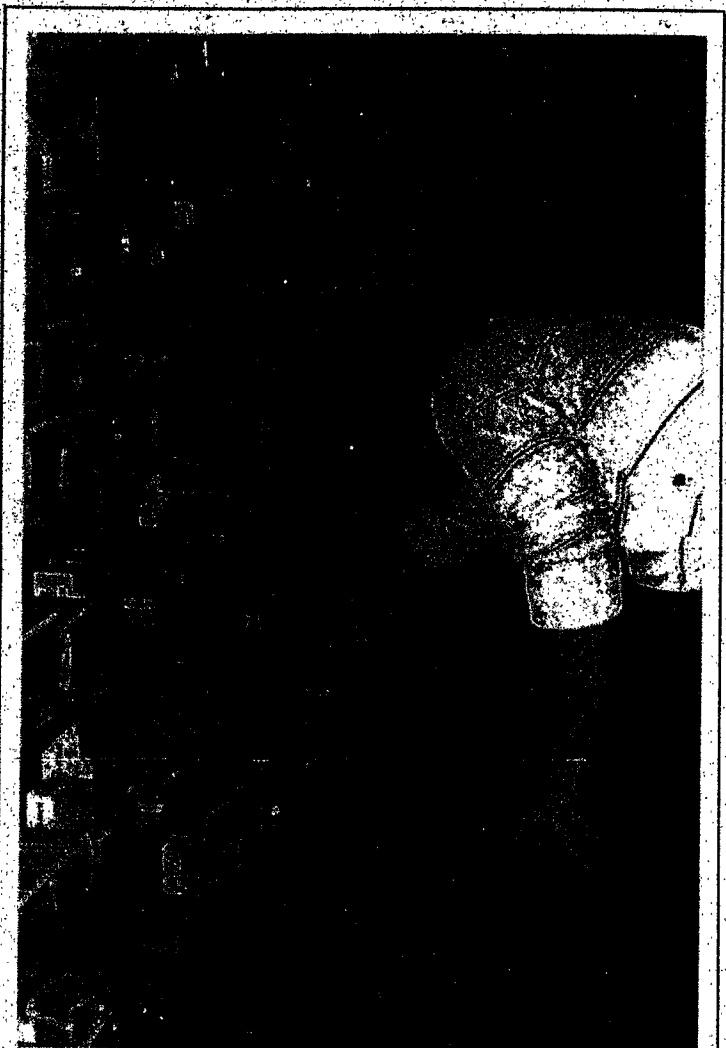

—When you apply the brakes and hear a squealing or scraping sound, it could indicate worn brake linings or pads. If allowed to continue, it could result in damaging brake drums or rotors, making the repair more costly.

—A sudden screech from under the hood could be a worn or loose drive belt.

—Knocking or pinging under the hood when you accelerate could be from low grade gasoline, incorrect timing or other tune-up adjustments.

—A sound of ticking in the engine usually is a valve lifter,

Prepare your car for sunny days ahead

Now that the sun is shining, long drives and vacation road trips will most likely be on your agenda.

But before you head for the open road, it's important to remember a few basics about shedding a car's "winter coat" and preparing it for the warmer months ahead.

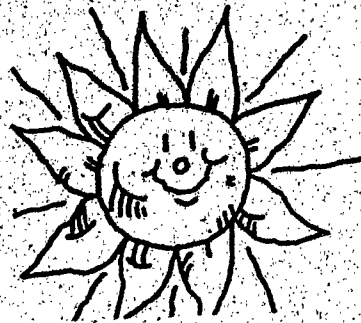

While you may enjoy the sun, it's no picnic on your car. Soaring temperatures and increased exposure to ultraviolet rays can cause paint to oxidize, spot and dull.

"Our research has shown that interior temperatures can sometimes reach 240 degrees, baking dashboards, seats and other surfaces," says Leslie Kennedy, public relations manager, Armor All Products Corporation.

"Knowing the basics of car care and using the right products can prolong the life of a car significantly, with a minimal investment of time and money," Kennedy identifies the following proper car-cleaning techniques:

• Regular washings — At least twice a month to help combat the elements and keep the finish looking new. Use a product specifically formulated for cars. Regular household detergents may strip a car's paint of its protective finish.

Tip: Save money by drying with a clean, non-abrasive cloth, such as a baby diaper, rather than purchasing expensive chamois cloths.

from the damaging effects of the sun.

A water-based protectant which has a built-in sunscreen, provides a barrier against the harmful elements.

Tip: Leave the windows slightly open on warm days to reduce interior heat.

• Leather interiors — Clean and moisturize with a specially-formulated leather care product to keep them fresh.

• Tires — Use a water-based protectant to clean and condition sidewalls to prevent damage caused by ozone and other harmful elements.

Tip: To keep hands clean, use a one-step spray-on product such as Armor All Tire Foam. No wiping is necessary.

• Final step — Prepare your car for springtime weather by waxing. Most cars built before 1980 have traditional lacquer finishes and need a durable, deep-cleaning wax.

Newer cars have clear-coat finishes that need low-abrasive polishes which won't scratch. New to the market are waxes designed for light and dark car colors. Again, use a soft cloth for wiping and buffing to protect the surface from scratching.

• Wear a fluorescent vest and helmet, and make sure your passengers do too. The visibility of motorcycles at night is improved with additional running lights.

• If you ride a motorcycle, know the controls by touch. Taking your eyes off the road to look for them can be hazardous in quick-reflex situations.

• Inspect the motorcycle each time before riding.

• Slow down at intersections—especially where your vision is limited or where lights have just turned yellow or green—and watch for turning vehicles.

• Advise passengers about avoiding contact with hot or moving parts, and other safe riding practices.

• Never loan your motorcycle or borrow one from another person.

• When riding, always wear personal protective equipment—it's your best defense against injury. Leather gloves, strong over-the-ankle boots, and leather clothing offer protection should a spill occur.

Zeroing in on the current value of your automobile

Have you ever wondered what the current market value of your automobile really is?

Whether you are buying or selling a used car, or are simply curious, pinpointing a fair market value can be somewhat confusing. A dealer might suggest one price while newspaper ads might suggest a range of others.

And, although high and low book values are obtainable by the general public, the available sources are limited and inconvenient (e.g. the reference section of the library, some banks and credit unions, a savings and loan).

To alleviate the problem, a state-of-the-art computerized system has been introduced nationwide by National Automobile Data Service Inc., which makes information on current used auto and truck values readily accessible.

You simply dial 1-900-844-3300 on any touch-tone phone to activate the Auto Priceline service, follow the simple instructions, and within an average of four minutes, you can obtain the current high and low values (that is the wholesale and retail values) of autos and trucks from 1975 to the present.

The data is systematically updated so it is always current, and the service includes a list of applicable vehicle options.

The fee for this service is $2 per minute.

There are no additional long distance toll charges. If a caller experiences any difficulty with the Auto Priceline, a customer service extension is available.

Checking car alignment

Change antifreeze every year

Antifreeze is one of the most important fluids used in your car's engine. It not only protects the engine from boiling over in hot summer weather and freezing in winter, it also prevents damaging rust and corrosion build-up in the cooling system.

If you neglect to change your antifreeze regularly, your car could fail and leave you stranded on the highway.

In fact, most roadside breakdowns occur because a car owner failed to change his or her antifreeze and maintain the cooling system on a regular basis.

And even if the existing antifreeze tests okay for freeze-up and boil-over protection, its rust and corrosion inhibitors may be weak and ineffective.

According to the cooling system experts at First Brands Corporation, the maker of Prestone Antifreeze/Coolant, there are three basic ways to determine whether it is time to change your antifreeze.

The first way is to test the antifreeze with a tester. A device like the Prestone Antifreeze/Coolant Tester, which can be purchased from most automotive outlets, will allow you to see if a low concentration of antifreeze exists in the system. If the concentration is low, you need to change the antifreeze.

The second involves visual inspection. If the existing antifreeze appears dirty or has floating debris, it must be replaced.

The third way to tell is if it's been one year or more since you last changed your antifreeze.

After one year, most of the important corrosion inhibitors are depleted, which means that neglecting to change your antifreeze regularly can leave your cooling system susceptible to rust and corrosion.

generally heard when the engine is idling.

—A whining sound as you move from a standstill to normal driving speed could be coming from the transmission, and could indicate that your transmission fluid level is low. You probably won't hear this sound when the car is idling or in neutral.

—A spitting sound or rumble from somewhere under the car could be an exhaust leak. This is a potentially dangerous situation, due to poisonous exhaust fumes that could seep into the car.

—If you turn on the ignition switch and hear a clicking sound, but the starter does nothing, your battery may need charging or replacing. It could be also be loose or corroded connections. The clicking comes from the starter solenoid, which isn't getting enough voltage to engage the starter.

The above list is provided by the Car Care Council.

The correct way to wash and wax your car

Ask anyone the proper way to wash a car. You'll be surprised to hear the different methods. Most of us learned from watching our parents. Unfortunately, we're usually not aware of the damage we do from improper washing and waxing.

Your car collects dirt just sitting outdoors. Rain makes it stick to paint like glue. It contains very fine particles of hard, gritty sand.

If you wash improperly, that grit will cause thousands of hair-like scratches in the paint. They look like spider webs and are easily seen on darker colors such as red, blue and black. It's worse on sunny days or under fluorescent light.

If you dry your car with dusty towels, you'll cause even more scratching. Remember, every little scratch is a tiny groove where a little paint was removed. The more scratching you do, the quicker your shine will dull.

Do you frequently use one of the common car waxes that clean and polish your car in one step? These formulations contain polishing abrasives that also remove a tiny bit of paint each time they're used. Some can actually make paint duller!

Most newer cars have a thin clear coat over the color. If this gets worn away by improper care, the paint will never look new again.

Proper care starts with correct washing procedures. Wait for a day with little or no wind. Always wash in shade and after the paint surface is cool to the touch. Use a hose and plenty of water.

Start at the top. Wet the car down to loosen dirt. Use water to flat dirt away. Soak the whole car. Wait two minutes and repeat.

Brakes need maintenance

Brake failure is the leading cause of motor accidents due to mechanical deficiencies. The vast majority of these failures can be traced to neglect maintenance. Car Care Council offers this basic information to help owners better understand their vehicle's braking systems.

When you step on the brake pedal, you create friction that resists the wheels from turning. Eventually, friction causes the brake parts to wear out and require replacement. You can make your brakes wear better and keep repair costs down by using good driving habits.

When you stop, let the vehicle slow gradually instead of stopping suddenly. Never ride the brakes on long hills.

For maintenance, check the fluid levels in the master cylinder once a month, and add heavy duty brake fluid if the level is low.

Be aware of the symptoms of brake trouble and seek the advice of a qualified technician when brakes act erratically. You cannot put a price tag on the security of knowing you have a good braking system under foot.

Treating your car like a friend

Nobody enjoys being ranked second—especially when there are only two options to begin with. But it's really an insult when you are being pushed aside for something that is neither living nor breathing.

Of course, this is debatable, particularly if the object (yes, object) in question is many people's most treasured possession—their car, (a.k.a. automobile, darling, baby, number 1, etc.).

Cars are, to some people, better companions than their human counterparts. Think about the time and energy people put into the grooming and conditioning of their automobiles—it seems as though many car owners are more interested in the well-being of their vehicle than they are in themselves!

• Let's go shopping—for the car, that is. Bras, skirts, wings—many cars have smarter wardrobes than their owners do.

• Have an annual check-up—Car owners probably are more familiar with their mechanic than they are their physician.

• Can't afford a four-star restaurant? Car fanatics manage to scrape up enough change to fill their tanks with four-star gas!

• How about a manicure? In other words, how about dressing up the tires, adding rims...

• Massage—How often do you treat yourself to one of these, if at all? Every time you wax your car, its getting treated to just that.

• Protection to the max—Woe to the invader who touches this gem-on-wheels! People take caution to the limit—combination locks, high-tech alarm systems, wheel, gear, brake locks, and even cars that tell you, through an intercom system, if it is being stolen or vandalized.

• Everyone needs a friend... and indeed, cars are some owners' very best friends, as we have all heard people speak more affectionately—and frequently—about their beloved automobile than they do their mate or spouse.

And we have all spotted people driving, and having what appears to be a deep conversation with, either themselves, or, yours truly.

• What's in a name? As far as some car owners are concerned, a great deal. Owners brand their vehicles with car versions of tattoos—colorfully painted signatures on the body of the car, or personalized license plates.

• Extras, extras! Cars these days look like Christmas ornaments! Fluorescent lights of neon green, pink or blue, animal skin upholstery, flashing colored lights, textured steering wheel and gear coverings, and stuffed animals with suction cups customized just for cars.

Move over dogs—your "bark" has been replaced as man's best friend by an engine that "purrs."

Protect your car's engine from the heat

Summertime temperatures and heat from your car's engine can cause motor oil to lose viscosity or become thinner, resulting in an overheated automobile.

Experts suggest checking the owner's manual to select the correct motor oil viscosity grade. A SAE 10W-30 or 10W-40 motor oil is recommended for year-round use where there is a seasonal temperature change.

These multi-grade oils can adapt to a greater range of temperatures better than is possible for a single-grade motor oil. The majority of late model cars suggest a SAE 5W-30 or 10W-30 motor oil.

For areas with consistently warm climates, it is recommended using a thicker oil such as SAE 20W-40 or 20W-50 motor oil. It is a good rule of thumb to change the oil every 3,000 miles.

Closely monitor engine oil levels and change the oil and oil filter.

There are six easy steps for changing your own oil and saving money, too. Before you begin you will need the following items: an oil filter wrench, the amount and type of motor oil recommended for the car's engine, an oil filter, a wrench to remove the drain plug, and a low, wide pan to catch the used oil.

careful not to turn the oil filter upside down because it will be filled with oil.

• Step 4: After allowing enough time to drain the oil fully, replace and tighten the oil

• Step 1: Position car in a safe spot. Run engine up to operating temperature, then turn off. Set the parking brake.

• Step 2: Place drain pan under the car beneath the oil drain plug. Use the wrench to loosen the drain plug. The oil will be hot, so watch your hands.

• Step 3: Next remove the oil filter with the filter wrench by turning counter-clockwise. Be drain plug, and install the new oil filter. Use your finger to put a light film of oil on the filter gasket and tighten the new filter by hand to ensure a tight seal.

• Step 5: Check the owner's manual for the oil fill location and add new oil. Use the proper weight for your car and climate.

• Step 6: Dispose of the used oil in an environmentally safe and legally recognized manner.

Upholstery cleaning tips

Next to your home, your automobile is probably the second largest investment you will make. And with today's high auto prices, keeping the inside of your auto clean and stain free can help to increase the value of your vehicle over the years.

Here are several tips to keep your car interior looking newer, longer:

• Prevent fading by parking your auto in the shade or in a covered area, such as a carport or a garage.

• Vacuum upholstery and carpet each week. Use a clean crevice tool extension to lift out dust and food particles from the seams.

• Discourage pets from sitting on or rubbing against car upholstery. Pet hair and body oil transfer easily to fabrics, causing general soiling.

• Blot spills immediately with a clean, white cloth. If the spill is solid or semi-solid (like ketchup from french fries at the drive thru), remove the excess by gently lifting it with a dull knife. The longer spills are allowed to remain, the more difficult they are to remove.

• Always use recommended upholstery cleaning products. Never use general household cleaning products, because some may contain bleach and abrasive cleaners.

• If you find a stain on your auto upholstery, always pre-test the upholstery cleaning products on an inconspicuous area of the upholstery before using the product on the stain.

• Periodic upholstery cleaning by a professional cleaner will help maintain the beauty begins by thoroughly flushing the cooling system. But using only water for this process can leave behind rust, grease and other sediments that can hinder the system's performance.

The experts advise you to use a product which is specially formulated for flushing the cooling system and can remove more oil, sediment and rust than flushing with water alone.

Once the system has been thoroughly flushed, the next step is to refill it with the proper mixture of high quality anti-freeze and water. But not all antifreeze brands are the same.

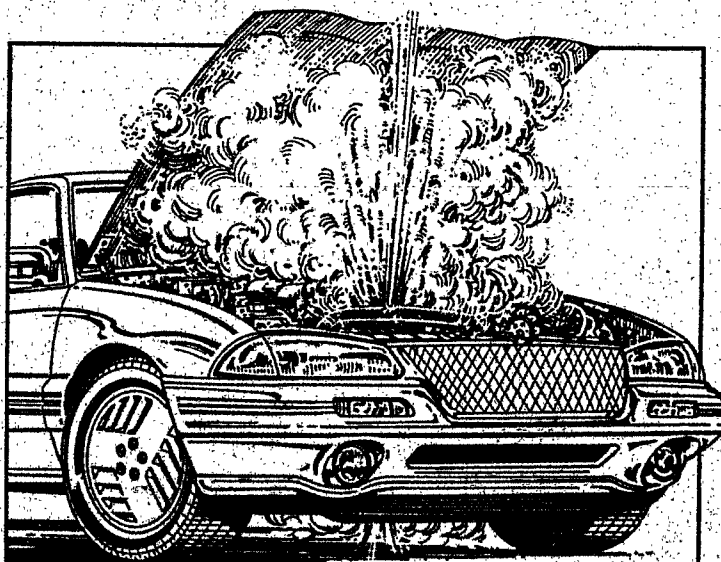

Only the most effective have the extra corrosion inhibitors needed to give modern cooling systems optimum protection.

A minimum 50-50 mix of antifreeze/coolant and water will lower the freezing point of your cooling system to minus 34°F (with a 15-pound pressure cap) and raise its boiling point to 265°F.

A 70-30 mix (70 percent anti-freeze to water), the highest recommended ratio, will lower the freezing point to minus 84°F and raise the boiling point to 276°F (with a 15-pound pressure cap).

Maintaining your cooling system today will help to ensure trouble-free driving throughout the summer season.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

◆ STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

◆ BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

◆ SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

◆ THE BOTTOM LINE

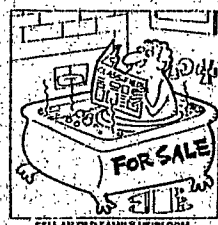

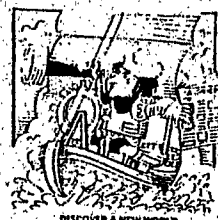

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

◆ BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

◆ ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

Making vacation driving a breeze

For most of us, spring and summer mean vacation time. And if your vacation includes driving, some basic preventive measures can mean the difference between a refreshing break and a disastrous outing.

A motor oil and filter change should be at the top of your maintenance list before a long trip. Consult your owner's manual for the proper viscosity grade.

If you intend to pull a camper, boat or other type of trailer on your trip, it's important that you have a vehicle equipped with the proper towing package and use the right motor oil.

Use a heavy-duty motor oil to take the stress of towing. Let the owner's manual be your guide to determine if and how you should pull a load with your up with gasoline or to give the travelers a break, you should pop the hood and check the oil and fluid levels again.

Vacations can provide memorable experiences for everyone. A little attention to the car can ensure that the memories aren't bad ones.

- Checking all belts and hoses to make sure they are in good condition.

- Checking all reservoirs for the correct amount of fluid. These include the brake fluid, transmission fluid and power steering fluid.

- Tuning up the car and making sure all electrical systems are operating properly.

- Checking the tires for correct pressure and to detect signs of abnormal wear.

vehicle.

A complete maintenance check-up should also include:

- Checking the air-conditioning system to make sure it is not leaking, is properly charged with refrigerant and is operating.

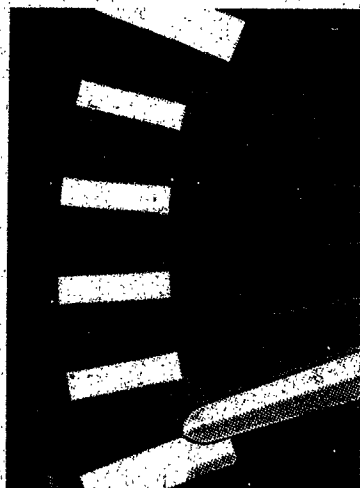

When you stop the car to fill

- Checking the exhaust system.

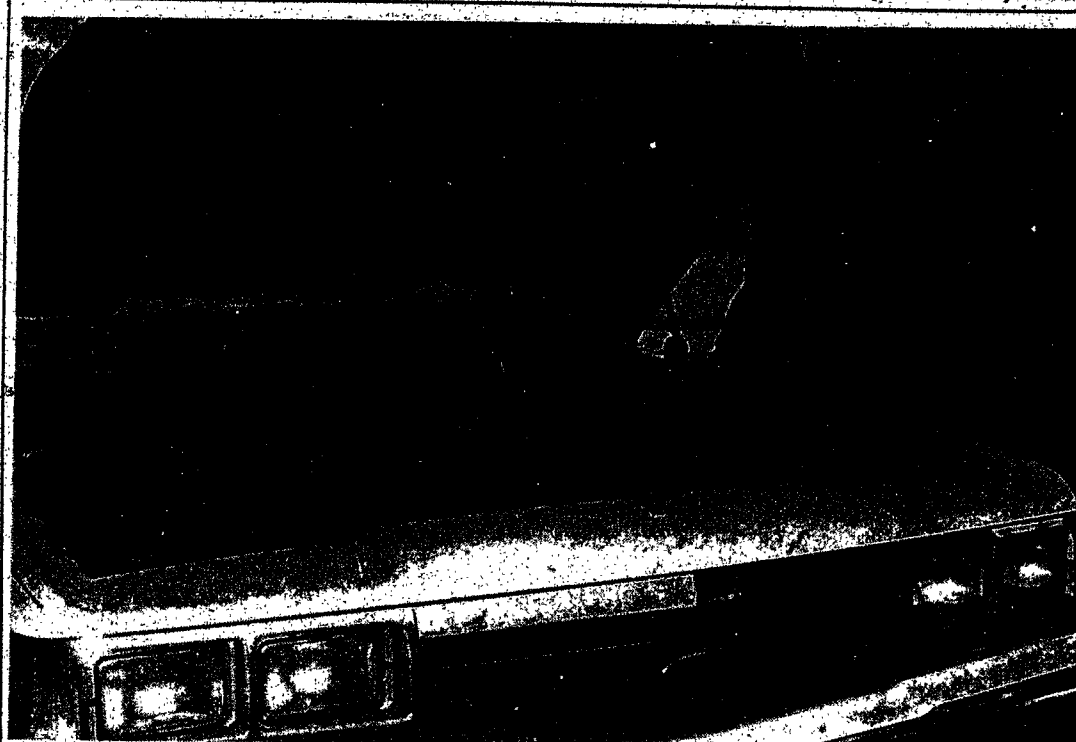

- Checking the windshield wiper blades and filling the wiper fluid reservoir.

- Checking the engine coolant level for the correct concentration of fluid.

sponge or wash mitt of grit by vigorously agitating it in the bucket of clear warm water.

Much of the scratch-causing dirt will sink to the bottom of the bucket.

Now wash all the glass. Wash the hood and trunk. Hose off. Do the sides of the car last. Be careful near the car's bottom and wheels. These areas are usually the dirtiest and very susceptible to scratching. Hose off the entire car.

Be cautious when drying your car. Use only soft cotton towels that have just been machine washed and dried without a softener, or use a clean chamois skin.

Never use drying materials that have been sitting around gathering dust. They'll scratch.

You'll need at least four large towels. Use one towel to remove most of the water from the roof. Then completely dry the surface with a dry towel. Never allow water to evaporate. Dissolved minerals will cause water spotting.

If your car needs waxing, first determine if your wax contains any abrasive. Simply apply some with a white cloth to a painted surface that is not clear coated. (A painted lawn mower or metal desk is fine for testing.)

Rub firmly for 30 seconds. Look at the cloth. If you see the color of paint, you can bet your wax contains abrasive. It may be all right to use, but don't wax often with this type product.

If you really care for your finish, use a no-rub, easy to use, pure wax with no abrasive. Apply every two to three months for cars left outdoors (less if garaged). Use a separate fine polish to remove scratches and "dead" paint only when necessary—and only one or two times per year.

Keep replacement fuses handy for emergencies

Some car emergencies cannot be anticipated; others, such as a flat tire or a blown fuse, can.

Knowing how to deal with either of these involves first reading one's owner's manual and then actually doing it.

The purpose of fuses and circuit breakers in your car, as in your house, is to prevent an overload circuit from overheating the system, which could lead to a fire. They also prevent damage to the components.

— An electric windshield wiper, for example, generally will be protected by a circuit breaker as well as a fuse.

Circuit breakers also may be found on the electric radio antenna, lights and other components.

They will switch off during overload, then on again when the circuit cools.

Another part of the electrical protective system is the fusible link, a special segment in a vehicle's wiring that melts first in case of a short circuit.

One of these can be found on the positive battery cable.

Experts offer this advice on fuses.

1. Know the location of the fuse panel in your car. Generally, it will be under the instrument panel near the steering wheel. Your owner's manual should show you.

2. Keep replacement fuses in your glove compartment. Check to be sure what type of fuses are used in your particular vehicle.

Some use the glass tube type; others use a ceramic fuse (most cars today use the plug-in type).

3. Learn how to replace them. This information may not be included in the owner's manual.

If you're unfamiliar with the procedure, have your dealer or mechanic show you.

If a fuse blows more than once, find out why. Do not replace a blown fuse with one of heavier rating.

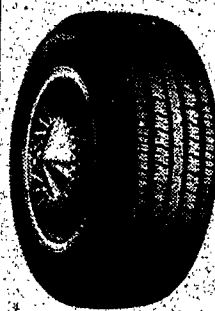

If a fuse-link wire blows, you have a major short circuit. Do not attempt to replace that wire until the faulty circuit is repaired. Then use a fusible link of the correct rating.

Do not use a screwdriver or other metal tool to remove a fuse. It could cause a short circuit and damage to electrical components. If your car uses the tubular glass fuse, keep a fuse puller in the glove compartment.
